FINDING HELP

Need help using the Library? Want some more information on library services and resources available to you? Just ask!

In particular, we welcome queries on:

- Locating journal articles or books
- Literature searching
- Copyright
- Endnote
- Overview of library resources
- Recommending new resources

In person: Any member of library staff will be happy to assist.

By email or phone: just get in touch with one of the contacts listed.

Online: A comprehensive list of FAQs is available on AFBI Library Online.

Library disability contacts
The Library is committed to providing an inclusive environment for all staff. If you require any additional help accessing buildings or resources, please contact Patrick Elliott at Newforge or Deborah Sherlock at Stormont.

YOUR AFBI LIBRARY

Welcome to the AFBI Library!
As a member of AFBI staff you have high quality electronic and print resources and a pro-active library service available to you. You can access your AFBI Library online at www.afbilib.qub.ac.uk and on two main sites at Newforge and Stormont.

Joining the Library
Current AFBI staff, authorised by their Heads of Division, are entitled to join the Library. Please ask for a registration form at any branch or download a form from: AFBI Library Online>Library services > membership and send it to your nearest AFBI library.

Authentication and access to electronic resources
A username and password will be given to you when you receive your library card. This will enable you to access all AFBI Library electronic resources from anywhere with an internet connection, either on your PC or mobile device.

It's your library - let us know what you think!
Call in for a chat, email one of your library contacts or leave feedback online at: AFBI Library Online > We Welcome Your Feedback.

LIBRARY SERVICES AT

www.afbilib.qub.ac.uk

Use the Library catalogue Search@AFBILib to search for articles in journals or do a more general topic search. Enter an article title or a keyword from the AFBI Library Online homepage, then simply refine your search from the results page.

Document delivery
Use this service to obtain material not available in your local AFBI Library. Use [Place Request for Book] on the library catalogue or [AFBICONNECT] when searching databases. Journal articles can now be delivered directly to your desktop using the British Library DRM Lite.

Databases
For more specialised searching use one of the databases hosted on the Web of Science platform. Find these on AFBI Library Online > Databases.

Managing your references
The library provides support for Endnote. Training sessions are organised throughout the year and one-to-one and small group training are also available.

TRAINING AND SUPPORT

All members of the library can take advantage of the free library training and support.

We can arrange training on an individual basis at the Library, or in groups at a location convenient to you. The training can be tailored to meet your needs, such as:-

- An overview of the AFBI Library Online website and library services
- How best to search the various e-resources available through AFBI Library Online
- Tips on how to keep up to date in your area of research
- Specific database searching skills
- Endnote training
- Bibliometrics training to help you assess the impact of your research

In addition, regular group training sessions are organised for key resources. Current programmes can be found at AFBI Library Online > Library Training.

Contact us to discuss your training needs or for further information.
